

2004 City of Seattle Families & Education Levy CAC Assessment Process: Recommendations will Integrate Multiple Information Sources

Assessment of community needs and recommendations of key service categories and priorities by the Citizens Advisory Committee will be based on multiple sources of information. These include experts and practitioners (including CAC members themselves), as well as direct and indirect input from many of Seattle's communities.

All sources of input will be respected for the wisdom and insight they bring to bear.

Data and Research

What do experts, studies and the latest literature tell us?

Practice

What do practitioners tell us actually works for them?

CAC
Recommendations:
Service Categories
and Priorities

Community Preferences

What do communities and cultural informants tell us about their needs, preferences, beliefs, and desires?